

Creative Writing

When: Weekly telephone calls at a time you choose

No experience necessary.

Creative writing is a chance for you to start or practise your writing skills and get your ideas and stories written down. A volunteer is matched with every person joining the writing group. The volunteer will call you weekly, the project lasts 8 weeks. The volunteer can help you with your ideas, or type out the ideas for you to share with family or friends. The weekly call lasts 30min and you will receive a pack in the post to get your started.

You have a chance to share your stories with others later in the programme (if you choose).

You dont need experience, just enthusiasm . All welcome.
